Eugenia Zukerman & Dr. Suzanne Salamon

Tuesday November 12, 2019

6:00 Refreshments, 6:30 – 7:30 Program

Brookline Senior Center 93 Winchester Street, Brookline

Internationally renowned flutist and writer Eugenia Zukerman will present Like Falling Through A Cloud, her memoir of handling her diagnosis of cognitive impairment. Dr. Suzanne Salamon, Chief Associate of Clinical Geriatrics at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center, will moderate the presentation.

Hailed by the Boston Globe as “an international triple threat...a published novelist, a television commentator and, most impressively, one of the finest flutists of our time,” Eugenia Zukerman worked hard and juggled it all—performing, writing, interviewing artists, directing concert series—with ease and grace. After her diagnosis, Zukerman began to chronicle her unraveling, mostly in verse.

The event, which is sponsored by BrooklineCAN, is presented in November to coincide with Alzheimer’s Awareness Month.
